XLIBRIS. Paperback. Condition: New. 56 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.1in. They are just kids, it can't be that bad, this is what I told myself after accepting my first teaching job. But my first day in the classroom with a couple dozen of 8th graders gave me a reality check. I still remember that day like it was yesterday when I walked into that classroom, and that door closed behind me. As if they were trained, all their little heads turned toward me and their eyes were analyzing every move I make. Physically I am pretty big man, about 6'2" over 280 pounds and I have never been so threatened in my life by a bunch of 12-13 years old. I had just got hired at a new school on a career change. Not even in my wildest dream I thought I would be a teacher. Last time I had set foot into a classroom before that was back in college. It was a Monday, in January, a little after noon, I was only supposed to sign some documents when one of the assistant principals called a gentleman named Mr. Frank and said; Hey Mr. Frank, why don't you show Mr. Christian his class. It was a very nice campus, very quiet and while walking I kept telling myself; it can't be that bad, I just switched career from being a correctional officer, they are just kids. I had that mixed feeling, I was at the same time hoping for the walk toward the classroom to last forever and at the same time I wanted to just see what I was up against and get it over with. We had just made a left and I heard; here it is. As he was turning that key into the...
